In New York!*

Franc D’Ambrosio, Phantom’s “Iron Man of the Mask” celebrates the sounds of the season with beloved holiday standards that evoke wonderful memories of Christmases past.

Featuring Holiday Standards from the American Songbook such as:

Silver Bells
White Christmas
Silent Night
Christmas Wonderland
Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas
What Child Is This?
and many more!

DEBUTING in November, 2011

Just picture Christmas in New York City...

City sidewalks, busy sidewalks, dressed in holiday style!

with the windows at Macy’s and Sak’s Fifth Avenue, and the giant snowflake over 54th St. and 5th Avenue...

In the air there’s a feeling (and aroma) of Christmas.

with Vermont tree farmers selling beautiful evergreens on the corner...

Children laughing, people passing. Meeting smile after smile...

And on ev’ry street corner you’ll hear

Silver bells, silver bells, It’s Christmas time in the city...

NEW YORK CITY

Celebrate the magic of the holiday season with your audience!

“I realized that it wasn’t just his magnificent, pure voice but that he also was a gifted story teller who enunciated each word so you could clearly hear the lyrics... It was magical.”

David Mixner, Critic
